

EQUALITY IMPACT ASSESSMENT – SERIOUS VIOLENCE STRATEGY AND MODEL FOR VIOLENCE PREVENTION

SECTION ONE: INFORMATION ABOUT THE PROPOSAL

Author(s): This is the person completing the EIA template.	Laura Juett	Department and service:	Public Health, ODPH	Date of assessment:	January 2024
Lead Officer: Please note that a Head of Service, Service Director, or Strategic Director must approve the EIA.	Matt Garrett, Service Director, Community Connections	Signature:		Approval date:
Overview:	The Police, Crime, Sentencing and Courts Act 2022 introduced a new statutory Serious Violence Duty that commenced on 31st January 2023. This Duty requires local areas to take co-ordinated action to prevent and reduce serious violence. To complement the Duty, the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 has been amended to ensure that Community Safety Partnerships have an explicit role in evidence based strategic action on serious violence. The Duty requires local areas to publish a serious violence strategic needs assessment and response strategy. A needs assessment has been written and brings together data and intelligence from a number of sources and also includes the perceptions, views and experiences of people drawn from surveys, conversations and local research. The needs assessment provides a shared understanding of how violence impacts the city and informs a collective approach to addressing these issues. The Serious Violence Strategy and model for Violence Prevention is informed by the needs assessment, an audit of current responses and a review of the published evidence about what is effective in reducing and preventing violence. It is also shaped by conversations with over 200 people from services, organisations and communities who were invited to consider how we collectively build motivation for change. The overall vision for the Serious Violence Strategy and model for Violence Prevention is for Plymouth to be a place where everyone can lead their lives free from violence and the fear of violence. We aim to achieve this through

	multiple and reinforcing approaches that both address the drivers of violence and respond to the harm caused by violence. The model for violence prevention has three distinct tiers as described below. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Building on existing approaches including those led by the Serious Violence Duty specified authorities, the Office for Police and Crime Commissioner and the Violence against Women and Girls, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence Local Partnership Board. 2. Realising the potential for violence prevention in the broader range of local policies, programmes and services e.g., Community Youth Services, Family Hubs and Belong in Plymouth, through <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Challenging harmful cultural and social norms • Adopting trauma responsive approaches and practice • Sharing the responsibility for supporting victims and people who cause harm • Expanding relational based programmes and initiatives 3. Initiating a programme of additional priorities to strengthen a whole systems approach that works towards the longer-term change required to shift cultures and behaviours and prevent serious violence. The key areas of focus here are <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Building Personal and Community Resilience - including a Healthy Relationships Alliance and multiple approaches to challenging harmful cultural and social norms • Responding to Harm - including the development of a Co-ordinated Community Response to people who harm through enforcement, disruption and behaviour change initiatives • Feeling Safe – including improving opportunities for reporting violence and strengthening violence prevention activity in the evening and night time economy • Learning and Understanding – including spotlight enquiries into specific issues and conversations and coproduction with communities most affected by violence

Gender reassignment	0.5 per cent of residents in Plymouth have a gender identity that is different from their sex registered at birth. 0.1 per cent of residents identify as a trans man, 0.1 per cent identify as non-binary and, 0.1 per cent identify as a trans women (2021 Census). A 2023 Home Office Report highlighted that in the year ending March 2023 there was an 11% increase on the previous year in the number of hate crimes against transgender people in England and Wales. Hate crimes on the basis of transgender identity are likely to involve violence or threats of violence.	Overall, we do not anticipate that the Serious Violence Strategy will disadvantage people who have a gender identity that is different from their sex registered at birth. However we recognise that our understanding of violence based on transgender and non-binary identities is not well developed and that national debates and narratives about these identities and communities can be divisive.	The Serious Violence Strategy includes a specific priority around improving opportunities for reporting violence and this will be informed through conversations with diverse community groups including people from transgender and non-binary communities. A priority in the Serious Violence Strategy is to enhance our understanding of the impact of violence on diverse communities through conversations, co-production and enquiries.	Community Connections and all Safer Plymouth Partners and Serious Violence Duty specified authorities across 2024-2028 By March 2025 Across 2024-2028
Marriage and civil partnership	40.1 per cent of residents have never married and never registered a civil partnership. 10 per cent are divorced, 6 percent are widowed, with 2.5 per cent are separated but still married.	We do not anticipate that the Serious Violence Strategy will disadvantage people due to their marriage or civil partnership status.

	0.49 per cent of residents are, or were, married or in a civil partnerships of the same sex. 0.06 per cent of residents are in a civil partnerships with the opposite sex (2021 Census).
Pregnancy and maternity	The total fertility rate (TFR) for England was 1.62 children per woman in 2021. The total fertility rate (TFR) for Plymouth in 2021 was 1.5. The Confidential Enquiry into Maternal and Child Health examined maternal deaths in England and Wales between 2000-2002 and identified domestic abuse as one of eight key risk factors for maternal death. Research has evidenced pregnancy to be a time when domestic abuse can start or worsen.	We do not anticipate that the Serious Violence Strategy will disadvantage however, we recognise the increased risk of domestic abuse and violence to pregnant women.	The Serious Violence Strategy includes a focus on supporting a wider range of services including Family Hubs and Community Youth Services to share the responsibility for supporting victims of violence and people who cause harm. This includes collectively improving how we identify and intervene with perpetrators of violence and prioritising multi-agency practice to share information, manage risk and prioritise safety.	Community Connections All Safer Plymouth Partners and Serious Violence Duty specified authorities across 2024-2028
Race	In 2021, 94.9 per cent of Plymouth’s population identified their ethnicity as White, 2.3 per cent as Asian and 1.1 per cent as Black (2021 Census) People with a mixed ethnic background comprised 1.8 per cent of the population. 1 per cent of the population use a different term to describe their ethnicity (2021 Census)	Overall, we do not anticipate that the Serious Violence Strategy is likely to disadvantage people due to their race. However we recognise that some people from Black and other minority ethnic groups may be less likely to report	The Serious Violence Strategy includes a specific priority around improving opportunities for reporting violence and this will be informed through conversations with diverse community groups including people	Community Connections and all Safer Plymouth Partners and Serious Violence Duty specified authorities across 2024-2028 By March 2025

	92.7 per cent of residents speak English as their main language. 2021 Census data shows that after English, Polish, Romanian, Chinese, Portuguese, and Arabic are the most spoken languages in Plymouth (2021 Census). The Serious Violence Needs Assessment does not specifically identify that people from diverse communities are adversely affected by violence in Plymouth. However we recognise that our intelligence and understanding is incomplete. We also acknowledge the broader body of data and research showing that people from Black and other minority ethnic communities are adversely affected by violence.	being a victim of violence and may be less likely to seek support.	from Black and other minority ethnic groups The Serious Violence Strategy has prioritised improving our understanding of the impact of violence on diverse communities. This will be developed through conversations, co-production and spotlight enquiries. The Strategy also has a focus on building personal and community resilience through challenging harmful cultural and social norms. This will include bystander training and extending the current Male Allyship Network to promote and develop positive male cultures.	Across 2024-2028
Religion or belief	48.9 per cent of the Plymouth population stated they had no religion. 42.5 per cent of the population identified as Christian (2021 Census). Those who identified as Muslim account for 1.3 per cent of Plymouth’s population while Hindu, Buddhist, Jewish or Sikh combined totalled less than 1 per cent (2021 Census).	Overall, we do not anticipate that the Serious Violence Strategy is likely to disadvantage people from specific religion or belief groups.	The Serious Violence Strategy includes a specific priority around improving opportunities for reporting violence and this will be informed through conversations with diverse community groups including people	Community Connections and all Safer Plymouth Partners and Serious Violence Duty specified authorities across 2024-2028 By March 2025

	We recognise that national reporting and research provides evidence of hate crimes (a broader range of offences than serious violence) that are related to religion. In 2018 to 2019 8% of hate crimes reported in England and Wales were related to religion.		from diverse religious and cultural groups. The Serious Violence Strategy has prioritised improving our understanding of the impact of violence on diverse communities. This will be developed through conversations, co-production and spotlight enquiries.	Across 2024-2028
Sex	51 per cent of our population are women and 49 per cent are men (2021 Census). Violence is highly gendered with men committing the majority of violent crime. Domestic abuse and sexual violence disproportionately affect women and girls. The reasons for this are complex and are driven by societal factors including gender inequalities, gender stereotyping, and harmful norms about masculinity. The Plymouth City Survey 2022 found that 60% of respondents agreed that violence against women and girls is a problem, while only 9% disagreed. Younger people aged 16-24 years were significantly more likely to agree (82%) as were females (63% compared to 56% of males).	Overall, we do not anticipate that the Serious Violence Strategy is likely to disadvantage people due to their sex. We recognise the gendered nature of violent crime and the Serious Violence Strategy, aligned to the broader work of Safer Plymouth, specifically seeks to address male violence through building a Co-ordinated Community Response for people who harm through enforcement, disruption and behaviour change initiatives.	The Serious Violence Strategy is supporting work towards a Healthy Relationships Alliance to support social, emotional and life skills development in schools and youth settings. The Strategy also has a focus on building personal and community resilience through challenging harmful cultural and social norms. This will include bystander training and extending the current Male Allyship Network	Community Connections and all Safer Plymouth Partners and Serious Violence Duty specified authorities across 2024-2028 By March 2025 By March 2025 to promote and develop positive male cultures.

Sexual orientation	88.95 per cent of residents aged 16 years and over in Plymouth describe their sexual orientation as straight or heterosexual. 2.06 per cent describe their sexuality as bisexual, 1.97 per cent of people describe their sexual orientation as gay or lesbian. 0.42 per cent of residents describe their sexual orientation using a different term (2021 Census). There is currently a limited understanding of how serious violence affects LGBTQ+ communities. This is due to limitations in recording and to underreporting from these communities. A 2023 Home Office Report highlighted that hate crimes (a broader crime group than serious violence but some crimes will include violence) on the basis of sexual orientation increased by 112% in the five years to March 2023 in England and Wales.	Overall, we do not anticipate that the Strategy is likely to disadvantage people due to their sexual orientation. We recognise that some people from LGBTQ+ communities may be less likely to report being a victim of violence and may be less likely to seek support.	The Serious Violence Strategy includes a specific priority around improving opportunities for reporting violence and this will be informed through conversations with diverse community groups including people from diverse religious and cultural groups. The Serious Violence Strategy has prioritised improving our understanding of the impact of violence on diverse communities.
