149. Questions from the Public

There was one public question received in accordance with the Constitution.

The following question was asked by Pamela Huson:
Question: Does the Council oversee the procedures concerning the safe removal and disposal of asbestos, and were these procedures followed in the demolition of the Snooker Hall in	Prior Approval Ref 20/01833/11 was required and granted for the demolition of existing 3-storey, steel-framed, brick and concrete building and garage at Victoria Snooker Centre Victoria Road Plymouth PL5 1RS on 07th June 2021.

Victoria Road St Budeaux? The land stands derelict and overgrown. Rumour has it asbestos is buried there hence the land remains derelict.	The Prior Approval was granted on condition that the approved works shall be carried out in strict accordance with specified approved documents including a 'Construction Phase Plan' (Condition 2) to comply with the Construction Design and Management (CDM) Regulations 2015. The approved Construction Phase Plan details that 'a refurbishment/demolition survey will be carried out prior to any work commencing. Should any additional asbestos be found or suspected during the course of our works it will be tested to determine what it is. If any asbestos found is licensable then this will be removed by a specialist licenced contractor. If licensable work is carried out, a certificate of cleanliness will be obtained from the asbestos contractor to state the site has been cleared of asbestos materials. This certificate will be retained on site and will be provided as part of the handover information file. Non-licensable asbestos will be removed by ADSW following Control of Asbestos Regulations 2012 guidelines and a certificate of cleanliness will be provided.' The Local Planning Authority would not oversee the carrying out of works under the Construction Phase Plan. That remains the responsibility of the Principal Contractor. However, the Local Planning Authority could consider enforcement against the condition if it was in receipt of evidence to suggest that the contractor was in breach of the condition. The LPA has not received such a complaint. There are however a range of other legislative powers in respect to the control and disposal of asbestos, namely the Control of Asbestos Regulations 2012. 150. Chair's Urgent Business

There were no items of Chair's Urgent Business.

151. Cabinet Appointments 2025/26

Councillor Tudor Evans OBE introduced the Cabinet Appointments 2025/26 report and discussed:

- a) The purpose of the report was to approve the appointments to Joint Committees, Advisory Groups of Cabinet, and external appointment for the 2025/26 municipal year;
- b) Nominations from the Independent Group had been received following publication of the report. The additional details were:
 - i. Mount Edgcumbe – Councillor Sally Nicholson
 - ii. Child Poverty Working Group – Councillor Carol Ney
 - iii. The Corporate Parenting Board remained an Independent Group vacancy

Cabinet agreed the Cabinet Appointments for 2025/26 as amended.

152. Integrating Primary Prevention of Violence Against Women and Girls in Plymouth City Council Policies

Councillor Sally Haydon (Cabinet Member for Community Safety, Events, Libraries, Cemeteries and Crematoria), supported by Matt Garrett (Service Director for Community Connections) and Tracey Naismith (Head of Community Safety) presented the item to Cabinet and highlighted the following key points:

- a. Plymouth had a strong process of tackling violence against women and girls (VAWG);
- b. Since the VAWG strategy was launched three years ago the council had seen;
- c. Funding had been obtained for the safe bus for the evening and nighttime economy and had ensured women and girls felt safe in the evening;
- d. The Community Fund money had been split with half going to grassroot community funders;
- e. The VAWG team had launched a citywide strategy;
- f. 1,500 professionals had been trained to better respond to abuse and violence;
- g. The city had safe nights which utilised the safe bus;
- h. Plymouth had retained its purple flag status for improving the safety of the night time economy;
- i. The council had helped thousands of people through the domestic support service and expanded safe housing and targeted support for young people;
- j. A new pilot had been underway to address repeat offenders;
- k. There was a new strategy and toolkit launched to support children as survivors The citywide campaigns of 'Enough', 'Challenging Harmful Behaviours' and 'Man Culture' provided workshops and raised awareness;
- l. The Council was the first organisation to hold a conference addressing 'man culture';
- m. Councillor Alison Raynsford would be Plymouth's new champion for VAWG;

In response to questions raised it was reported that:

- n. The communications around the VAWG campaign would be increased;
- o. VAWG was not a women's problem and was something that women were the subject of and Cabinet expressed thanks and recognition of the hard work that had been done to address male perpetrators and encourage the Man Culture campaign;
- p. MATAC was in place which targeted perpetrators of domestic abuse and serial perpetrators who had domestically abused multiple victims and/or survivors;
- q. Perpetrator work was still in the 'research stage and the council were working on preventative measures to stop potential serial perpetrators.

Cabinet agreed to:

l. Include the primary prevention of Violence against Women and Girls when agreeing new and updated policies and strategies across all council departments alongside responses to gender-based violence through the report and decision processes, supported by a checklist and officer guidance.

153. Development and Regeneration Update

Councillor Tudor Evans OBE introduced the item to Cabinet and highlighted the following key points:

- a) Plymouth City Council had over 80 projects linked to the council's economic plan;
- b) The Economic team delivered a £1bn pipeline of development over a decade and had secured a further £1bn for the future decade;
- c) The Economic Development department's capital programme in 2025 was £155m, supported by over £100m in grants secured by the team;
- d) In Economic Development they enabled projects, funded projects, invested in projects and directly delivered projects. Those projects transformed the city and made money through rents, council tax and business rates;
- e) Thanked Matthew Ward (Head of Regeneration and Growth) for all his contributions to the city.

Matthew Ward (Head of Regeneration and Growth) gave a presentation to Cabinet and highlighted the following key points:

- f) Plymouth City Council contributed £19 million to the Derriford District Centre, which had provided over 100 new jobs;
- g) The Foulson park project was making a difference to the local community and the foundations for a new 3G football pitch had been laid. The steel frame for a new pavilion building had also been constructed. Plymouth City Council invested £3 million into the project which was matched by £20 million of funding from Plymouth Argyle and Plymouth Argyle Trust. Plymouth Community Leisure Ltd would take over the stewardship for the community;
- h) The Community Diagnostics Centre was under construction and was scheduled to open in 2026. The site was designed to help the NHS co-ordinate their non-acute services offsite and would drive footfall into the city centre. 91,000 tests per year were expected to be scheduled at the site when operational;
- i) The Guildhall modernisation and refurbishment, scheduled for completed in late 2025, aimed to improve acoustics in the great hall and provide better facilities for the public;
- j) The Civic Centre refurbishment had begun and was scheduled for completion in autumn 2029. The project aimed to provide 144 new homes and 2,000 new students educated in blue and green skills;

- k) Bath street would see up to 136 new homes in addition to commercial space. The new homes would be 100% affordable and phase one of the project would commence by the end of 2025 subject to funding agreements;
- l) Oceansgate phases one and two had been delivered, creating 2,600 square metres of office and industrial space and 113 new jobs. Phase three would be starting by the end of 2025 and would see the creation of a further 1,310 square metres of space over eight units;
- m) Tinside Lido would see a £4.5 million renovation and creation of a multi-use facility, including a new youth facility. The new facilities would encourage youth engagement, community engagement and new commercial opportunities;
- n) The Mountbatten Water Sports Centre would have over £4 million in redevelopment with new accessible facilities. The Council was undertaking a tender opportunity for improvements to the pontoons;
- o) Renovations to the Mount Edgumbe Garden Battery would start in 2026;
- p) Within the Freeport project at the Langage site there was 4,615m² of sustainable, high quality employment accommodation targeting high quality and high environmental standards. The build which had started in 2024 was set for completion in Autumn 2025;
- q) Barrack Court was completed and was almost completely let with the remaining units under offer creating over 50 jobs on that site;
- r) Through government funding and the Brownfield Land Release Fund, the former museum annex and social club at Tavistock Place had been demolished and the next phase of the project was being progressed and come back to Cabinet as the plans evolved;
- s) A strategic partnership with homes England shared a vision for 10,000 homes in the city centre which would see the creation of 7,000 new construction jobs on priority sites at the Civic centre, West End, Armada north and the Railway station. The council continued to work closely with Homes England, MHCLG, Babcock and the MOD to drive forward plans for housing in the city centre;

In response to questions raised it was reported that:

- t) There was £250 million worth of schemes on site that the council were directly involved with or leading on;
- u) The investments would see Plymouth building its rental income, asset base and rates base. As the debt was paid off, Plymouth would be in a strong place and would be setup for the future;

- v) Plymouth had a strong vision for where it wanted to go and was in the risk business where the private sector wouldn't go. There was an appetite for the developments which was shown by units being let before they were finished;
- w) Flavourfest proved to be a successful event in 2025 and was as a result of the work that was undertaken on Old Town Street and New George Street;
- x) The Armada Way development was on time and within budget and an additional 10 trees were being included in the first element of the plans.

Martin Ivatt (Regeneration and Placemaking Manager) gave a presentation to Cabinet which highlighted the following key points:

- y) Zone 1A was nearing its completion and would be open by August 2025;
- z) Mayflower street had been reopened with key infrastructural works completed under the road for that important crossing;
- aa) High quality granite had been laid and there was no concrete in the scheme above ground;
- bb) The cycle path running from North Cross down to Royal Parade was under construction;
- cc) There was 91 people on site working on the project;
- dd) The first section of wildflower turf was completed with 1,000 square metres in the first zone alone;
- ee) The rill would recirculate water, watering the trees as well as providing more aesthetic and ornamental quality;
- ff) Work had commenced on the eastern side of Armada Way with tree soil being delivered to allow for the next trees to be planted;
- gg) The Elms that were being planted were resistant to Dutch Elm disease in an effort to restore the elm population;
- hh) The first parts of the play equipment had arrived and would be installed;
- ii) Bridges connected the businesses and residential premises to not interrupt the operation of shops at all.

In response to questions raised it was reported that:

- jj) The team in place had learned from previous developments and were working at pace, on time and to budget, whilst maintaining good relationships;
- kk) It was the intention to open and use the amphitheatre space from day one and discussions had taken place with the City Centre company to progress those plans;

- ll) The 10 additional trees were welcomed for phase one of the project following feedback;
- mm) The Wildflower turf would have a continuous turf mix of 85-90% flowers which would bloom from April to October and only require one cut before they came back stronger in the season. There were around 15,000 perennial herbaceous plants going into Armada Way;
- nn) The team were thanked for their monthly updates through newsletters and site visit invitations to understand the various intricacies of the project;
- oo) It was advised that the system being installed in Armada Way would be a complete continuous system and as the phases opened it would seem as though it was not working. This would not be the case, and the system would work after all the phases were completed. Until the phases were completed, all the trees would continue to be manually watered;
- pp) Since Old Town Street and New George Street works were completed, there had been a change in how people were responding to the scheme to one in which was positive.

The Cabinet agreed to note the update.

154. Volunteer Programme

Councillor Chris Penberthy, Cabinet Member for Housing, Cooperative Development and Communities presented the report and highlighted the following key points:

- a) The 41st National Volunteers week provided an opportunity to recognise, celebrate and thank all the incredible volunteers that Plymouth had;
- b) Data indicated that that 38% of Plymouth residents volunteered and a further 18% of residents helped their neighbours out on a regular basis and was reported as being much better than comparators;
- c) The Council facilitated the Plymouth Volunteers Coordinators Network (PVNC) which supported 67 volunteering organisations in the city promoting partnership working, good practice and mutual support;
- d) The councils own volunteering programme worked with a range of organisations to develop best practice for volunteering opportunities in the city;
- e) On Course Southwest provided training and induction sessions to new volunteers in the city and in 2024, 114 people participated in those courses;
- f) The Council had ran workshops for organisations in areas such as safeguarding, recruitment and engagement of 'minoritised' communities as well as supporting asylum seekers and refugees;

- g) Volunteering was a key pillar of the councils community empowerment programme, supporting the delivery of community services, whilst enhancing personal wellbeing and creating a sense of belonging cohesion and building skills;
- h) Staff were encouraged to volunteer and were able to take a day off every year to do that;
- i) 700 people had volunteered for the Council to help deliver things that the council couldn't otherwise deliver.

Zoe Sydenham (Community Empowerment and Operational Lead) added:

- j) Volunteering supported the recognition of everyone as valuable community members;
- k) It enhanced personal wellbeing whilst offering a wide range of skills, life experiences and fresh perspectives to complement the councils services and staff skills;
- l) The council developed and supported high quality volunteering opportunities and had 680 active volunteers helping across a range of initiatives;
- m) The good neighbour volunteer support scheme helped reduce loneliness in the community whilst also helping individuals;
- n) The Community Digital Volunteer scheme was a volunteer network that helped digitally excluded individuals;
- o) The Changing Futures Volunteer programme was in place to help people through lived experiences;
- p) The Ocean City Event programme saw volunteers help with high profile events such as the fireworks championships;
- q) It was crucial that the council continued to build volunteering opportunities;

Cabinet agreed to note the report.

155. OFSTED Inspection at Downham House

Councillor Jemima Laing (Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Children's Social Care, Culture and Communications) introduced the report to Cabinet and highlighted the following key points:

- a) Downham house was a bedroom council owned home that provided short breaks for families and children across the city. The home had received a good Ofsted inspection in March 2025. Although there had been a historically unsettled leadership team, the home demonstrated an improved progression with stable and positive foundations, providing a solid future for new children's homes in the city.

- b) The work undertaken in the home was thoughtful, inclusive and welcoming with feedback from parents/carers describing their excitement for the home;

Victoria Whitman (Head of Service for Strategy, Intelligence and Planning) and David Haley (Director of Children's Services) added:

- a) The Ofsted inspection result was something to be proud of and was consistently good for eight years;
- b) There were challenges in the sector but staff at Downham House delivered better outcomes for disadvantaged children and kept them out of Care;
- c) All parents spoken to during the inspection were equally effusive and positive and had reflected that the opportunity to have overnight breaks allowed them the opportunity to stay together as a family and for their children to prosper;
- d) The outcome provided the council with a solid foundation in managing its own children's homes;
- e) The Council was finding it difficult to find and purchase its first couple of homes but it would continue to work through those challenges, but was the reason for the delay in work within that space;
- f) There were 68 children in residential children's homes with the majority of those living at a distance from Plymouth. The council wanted to get the best for those children and bring them closer to home.

156. Leader's Announcements

Councillor Tudor Evans OBE (Leader of the Council) made the following announcements:

- a) Due to attending UK REIT, it was anticipated that Plymouth would have an influx from the developer community. The event made it clear that there was an appetite from private sector companies for what Plymouth was offering in terms of an entrepreneurial planning department and entrepreneurial economic development and property department at a time when people were nervous;
- b) Announcements from Government and Babcock around future submarines being built meant that they would be maintained in Devonport into the future;
- c) There would be massive investment from central government over a ten year period which gave Plymouth a stable footing with development companies;
- d) Councillor Evans OBE attended a civic engagement meeting at Ballard House which was attended by the University of Plymouth, Babcock, Plymouth City Council and the NHS, regarding meaningful partnership around procurement and social value. It was the first in the UK to have a range of anchor institutions sign in such a deal.
